Jan Moller

Jan Moller is director of the Louisiana Budget Project which monitors and reports on state government spending and how it affects Louisiana’s low-income to moderate-income families.

He is an award-winning journalist formerly with the New Orleans Times-Picayune’s state capital bureau where he covered the state budget, health-care policy, higher education and races for Louisiana governor and U.S. Senate races.

Before moving to Louisiana in 2003, he covered local and national politics at the Las Vegas Review-Journal and worked as a reporter and editor in Washington, D.C., primarily with the syndicated columnist Jack Anderson.

Moller’s work led to reforms in Louisiana’s nursing home regulation and uncovered ethics violations by city officials in Nevada.

Born in Sweden, Moller was raised in Pittsburgh, PA and is a graduate of The American University in Washington, D.C.

GIVE for GOOD
powered by
COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

May 7, 2019

Our club's Rotary Club of Shreveport Foundation is registered for this event. Please remember your club's own Foundation on Give for Good day. Donations are used to partially fund our scholarships and our civic grants. The balance for these projects is funded through dues.
