Medical Research In Our Backyard

Dr. Christopher Kevil

Vice Chancellor for Research Christopher G. Kevil, Ph.D. assumed leadership for research development and management of the LSU Health Sciences Center in December 2016. He was named Dean, School of Graduate Studies in September 2017.

He earned his graduate research degree from LSU Health Shreveport in molecular and cellular physiology followed by a fellowship in pathobiology and functional genomics at the University of Alabama-Birmingham. After his return to LSU Health, new technologies discovered in the Kevil Lab led to development of two startup companies—Theravasc, Inc. located in Cleveland, Ohio and Innolyzer, LLC located in Shreveport.

Dr. Kevil is a member of many professional organizations and the recipient of numerous research and teaching awards. He also serves on several boards, serves as the editor-in-chief for the Redox Biology Journal and associated editor for the American Journal of Pathology.

He and his wife, Dr. Glenda Johnson, reside in Shreveport and have two children.

Rotary Club of Shreveport Scholarships

About 35 years ago, our club began awarding $350 scholarships to students at our five Caddo Parish universities of higher learning. Over time the awards have increased to $2,000 to each student recipient. This year for the first time, we have ventured outside Caddo Parish and have included Bossier Parish Community College in our awards.

Last Tuesday we presented the scholarship checks and heard from each recipient about their career goals. Rotarian Alan Prater has been chair of this committee for many years and because he has streamlined and organized the selection process so nicely, this is one of our club's largest and most popular committees. If you would like to be on the committee, let Alan know that you would like to serve next year.
