307th Bomb Wing
Barksdale Air Force Base

Colonel Courtney “Judy” A. Hamilton is the vice commander of the 307th Bomb Wing, Barksdale Air Force Base. She began this assignment in August 2018.

Colonel Hamilton earned her commission from the U.S. Air Force Academy in 1998 and her wings at Laughlin Air Force Base. She has logged over 2,000 hours in F-15Cs and T-38Cs as a command pilot.

After receiving her B.S. in computer science from the U.S. Air Force Academy, she attended several officer schools and received her M.A. with Distinction in military studies from American Military University and her M.A. with Distinction in security studies, Distinguished Graduate, from the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, CA.

She has received many major awards and decorations including the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Meritorious Service Medal with three oak leaf clusters, Air Medal, Joint Service Commendation Medal and many others.

Col. Hamilton is the first female vice-commander of the 307th Bomb Wing. As the sole bomb wing in the Air Force Reserve Command, the 307th Bomb Wing, along with its Active Associate partners, provides all B-52 Stratofortress formal training for the Air Force.

The 307th Bomb Wing provides combat ready aircrew, maintenance and combat support personnel for nuclear and conventional global operations. It is the only unit in the Air Force currently operating both the B-52 and the B-1 Lancer simultaneously.

Our District Grant

Each year our club applies for a grant from Rotary District 6190 to help fund a project selected by our club's president. This year, President Joe selected the Renzi Education & Art Center located at 435 Egan St. Our Rotary District matched our club's $2,000 for a total of $4,000.

Renzi Center is in the heart of the Highland/Stoner Hill area. Its main project is its free After School Program, providing a safe and nurturing place for K-12 grade students to go after school. Each child receives one-on-one academic tutoring from certified teachers. 60 school children are served Monday through Thursday from 3:00 p.m.—6:00 p.m. and are also provided with a well-balanced nutritious meal from the Northwest Louisiana Food Bank.

Our grant funds were used to purchase academic and art supplies, student backpack meals for the weekend, computer purchase, Microsoft software, internet and utilities support.

Last Tuesday, President Joe presented the final funding for this grant to Renzi's new executive director Omari Ho-Sang. It's appropriate that our BPC Rotaract Club has adopted Renzi as a partner for their community service work.

Volunteer opportunities abound with possibilities for tutoring and general assistance. Rotaract has planned a neighborhood litter clean up with the students on Saturday, December 1 beginning at 9:30 a.m. We are invited to participate in this clean-up effort. If you are interested in doing this, please let Judy Bellew know.

Of interest, the Rotary District's funds are provided by a portion of the donations that our members make to The Rotary Foundation. The club's portion of the funds are provided by all of our members through our dues structure which also funds all the civic grants, scholarships, Rotary Brain Bus and Rotaract Club support we give.

The Louisiana Association of School Superintendents has named Rotarian T. Lamar Goree as the 2019 Louisiana Superintendent of the Year. This award came as Dr. Goree prepares to mark his 5th year as Caddo School Superintendent.

A product of Caddo Schools and a graduate of Huntington High School, Goree came to the district in December 2013 as Caddo faced a crisis regarding the future of its chronically underperforming schools as well as diminished morale from staff who felt the crunch of budget woes.

Lamar joined our club just a couple of months after his return to Caddo and he has been an active participant in Rotary and is a Paul Harris Fellow.

Junior Livestock Auction

We continued our long standing support of the Junior Livestock Auction by donating funds for the purchase of animals raised by outstanding 4H FFA students.

This year we purchased the Reserved Grand Champion broilers.

Shown in the group are Rotarians Andy Shehee, Joe Littlejohn, Jon Lowe and Martha Marak.

Rotarian Sarah Collier and husband Mike were inducted into the 4-H Livestock Hall of Fame.
